San Francisco, April 18 (AP) — General Douglas MacArthur's dramatic homecoming was growing today into the wildest emotional frenzy this city has seen since the tumult of V-J day.

Tens of thousands of Bay area citizens poured out of their homes to give the ousted general a second-day welcome expected to overshadow the riotous greeting he received last night on his first return to the mainland in 14 years.

MacArthur captured San Francisco as surely as his troops conquered Manila and Leyte and New Guinea in World War II.

And his parade through cheering thousands will be the climax to the hysterical homecoming party.

Once the official welcome home is extended, the general will turn to the grim business of hurrying to Washington to defend before Congress tomorrow the Asia policies which caused President Truman to fire him.

Admire Hero-Soldier

Already the dispute between MacArthur and President Truman has the Republicans and Democrats hurling at each other the angry and bitter accusation of "war party." And this deep rift has people throughout the country choosing up sides.

But the hundreds of thousands who greeted MacArthur last night left no doubt of their deep admiration of the hero-soldier regardless of how they felt about his Asia policies.

People began gathering at the city airport three hours before MacArthur's big shiny Constellation transport was due from Hawaii. Excitement mounted as the plane — the Bataan — neared the field on its flight from Hawaii.

As the plane rolled to a halt, a woman gave a high, hysterical scream that signalled the temper of the crowd.

Governor Heads Greeters

The cheers swelled into a roar. Mrs. Jean MacArthur stepped from the plane onto the ramp. Then came the general wearing his familiar gold-braided cap and a trenchcoat buttoned high around his neck. Behind him was their 13-year-old son, Arthur — wide-eyed and grinning.

The official greeting party included Gov. Earl Warren, Mayor Elmer Robinson and high-ranking officers of the army, navy, air force and marines. They moved forward to shake hands with the MacArthurs.

Spectators, newsmen and photographers surged forward and the welcome almost got out of hand. Police shoved a way open for the honor guests.

MacArthur had requested a brief ceremony short of any pomp except the customary military ceremonies given a five-star general. But a wave of excitement swept the crowd and swamped the well-laid plans.

17-Gun Salute

Flash bulbs popped and the general was caught in the glare of television lights. The color guard snapped to attention. Artillery pieces boomed out a 17-gun salute.

Old friends grabbed the general and shook them. Men and women patted him on the shoulders and surged around him. There were rolling cheers from the mass of people hemmed in behind the fence. The general waved and smiled.

MacArthur walked swiftly before the guard on an inspection that was almost a mob scene.

Mrs. MacArthur and young Arthur were trapped in the swirling throng. They stood helplessly, unable to move. Friends gathered around them to form a tight circle of protection.

Young Arthur watched the tumult in wide-eyed wonder. Lt. Col. Anthony Story, MacArthur's personal pilot, threw his arms around Arthur to shield him from the jostling through.

"How does it feel to be home?" someone asked the boy who was seeing the mainland for the first time.

"It feels fine," he smiled.

Allies Attain Some Gains In Korea; Foe Has 600,000 Men

TOKYO, April 18 (AP) — Communist troops grudgingly gave ground on Korea's western front today under heavy Allied air and ground attacks.

Allied tanks punched a hole in the Red lines between Chorwon and Kumhwa. They lunged to the vicinity of Chigyong, 18 miles inside Red Korea. Tank and rifle fire killed 100 Reds in a brief skirmish.

U. S. Eighth Army headquarters reported signs of a general Red withdrawal on this front. The pull-back was not marked however. Allied gains were moderate.

Chorwon and Kumhwa are two bases in the big triangle where the Reds had massed an estimated 600,000 combat troops. Chorwon also was threatened by a frontal attack. Allied troops hold all the high ground south of the city.

Repel Allied Attack

It was a different story at Hwachon, the eastern base of the buildup area. There the Reds continued their dogged defense of the Peace Robert P. Snyder.

DECORATED VET HOME FROM WAR TELLS OF KOREA

A member of last year's ROTC was back Tuesday to tell this year's Gettysburg college ROTC classes and Company A of the 313th Infantry, local army reserve unit, about warfare in Korea.

First Lt. William Sykes, who was an honor ROTC student at the college here and a native of Harrisburg now home on a 30-day emergency leave, has won the Silver Star for gallantry in action. The Bronze Star for heroic activity as well as receiving the promotion to first lieutenant since last summer. He also received the Purple Heart for wounds from mortar shrapnel.

He brushed aside questions on the two high awards for bravery, but spoke at length on the work of the troops in Korea. Morale, he claimed is "very, very high" among the United Nations troops, particularly in the 27th under the famed Brigadier General McAuliffe. The "Wolfhounds" have been one of the outstanding outfits in Korea and Lieutenant Sykes is assigned to that group.

REC DIRECTOR TALKS TO CLUB TUESDAY NIGHT

"Gettysburg is fortunate that it has so large an acreage for development as a recreational area," Donald Joseph, Gettysburg recreation director, told members of the Exchange club Tuesday night at their regular dinner meeting at Banker's restaurant. "Its 58 acres are far more than most communities of comparable size possess," he added. "The average small town does not have more than six acres for recreational purposes," he said.

"Of the 58 acres, only six have been developed thus far," Mr. Joseph said, "but future development plans contemplate a swimming pool, flower gardens, a band shell and additional space for various games."

Tracing the development of recreation, Mr. Joseph said it was as old as man himself. "The ancient Greeks and Romans liked to play. They had their games and athletic contests which are continued today in the Olympic games. In Colonial times, the settlers joined in constructive recreation such as barnraisings, butchering, quilting bees and corn huskings."

Impetus After War

"After the Civil war came the industrial revolution," the speaker continued. "Many persons moved from the rural areas into cities to work in factories. Parks were established where people could sit and listen to band concerts, but there was little time allowed for play.

Joseph Lee founded the modern playground movement in the early 1900's and recreation received a big impetus after World War I. Various recreational facilities had been provided for the servicemen and they demanded that at home when the war was over.

"After World War II many playgrounds were established as 'living memorials' instead of monuments, flagpoles or plaques. Recreation has grown because people have had more free time, because mass production leaves very little opportunity for

SAYS FAITH IN GOD NEEDED TO CONQUER FEAR

Only through faith in God and Christ can fear, rampant in the world today, be conquered, Rev. William E. Swope, pastor of Zion Lutheran church, Lebanon, Pa., told 151 members of Good Samaritan Royal Arch chapter No. 266 and their guests Tuesday night at the annual Ladies' Night banquet at Trinity Evangelical and Reformed church.

"Fear," Rev. Swope said, "is an emotion characterized by dread or expectation of harm. It can never be conquered, since it is an inherent trait of the animal kingdom, but it can be brought under control to a marked degree by finding a safe haven where fear will be minimized. That haven must be a haven of belief in Him who created all things. It is high time to stop playing at being a Christian and be a Christian."

"Wake Up Or Blow Up"

The speaker said Americans "must wake up or be blown up." The American people, he said, must make greater sacrifices and accept greater responsibilities.

"Fear is a part of everyone," Rev. Swope added. "I am amazed at the complexity of fear among younger people over present day conditions. There was no fear in Christ on Gethsemane, before Pilate or on the cross."

Rev. Swope was introduced by Past High Priest George R. Miller, High Priest Kenneth W. Johns was toastmaster. The program opened with the singing of one verse of America followed by the invocation by Rev. Harold Dunkelberger. Four selections were given by the male octet of Gettysburg high school, with Professor Richard B. Shad at the piano.

Seated at the speakers' table were Rev. Dunkelberger, Past High Priest H. B. Flaherty, New Oxford; Wilbur Plank, Arthur E. Hutchison, Dr. Lloyd C. Keefauver, Dr. George R. Miller, Ray J. Kitzmiller and Charles W. Myers; High Priest Kenneth W. Johns; Rev. Swope; District Deputy High Priest Richard S. Cole, York; George N. Coshun, king, and Paul A. Legore, Littlestown R. 1, scribe.

Becker, division commander, division No. 16, Knights Templar; Leon Emmery, high priest, Columbia; John V. Hawke, master, Good Samaritan lodge, and Myles S. Kleinfelter, eminent commander, as well as officers and committee members of the chapter.

In addition to Mr. Coshun, these include: Paul A. Legore, scribe; Ray J. Kitzmiller, treasurer; Charles W. Myers, secretary; H. B. Flaherty, representative in the grand chapter; Arthur E. ## TELLS WHY IOOF WAS ORGANIZED 200 YEARS AGO

The Odd Fellows came into existence in England during the eighteenth century as a result of a need for combining different craftsmen into groups, the Rev. Dr. Jacob M. Myers, professor of Old Testament at the local Lutheran Theological seminary, told 50 persons at a special meeting of the local Lodge Tuesday night at the Odd Fellows hall on Chambersburg street.

"The original purpose of the order, to permit the craftsmen to assist each other during evil times and to provide conviviality and financial benefits, have been carried on basically by the Odd Fellows for some 200 years.

"The lessons we learn in the order remain with us all our lives. Basically the ideals of Odd Fellowship are the principles which go to make good men and good women. The principles of friendship and love alleviate the need for bombs or worse."

"Odd Fellowship has not been tried fully," he added, noting that "economic and political sanctions have failed to bring peace to the world but if the principles of friendship, love and truth were supreme the world would be so much better off."

"I pay tribute to the middle class of people whom I have met here, who have made me welcome and received me into their hearts."

Harmonica solos were presented by John A. Zimmerman. Oyster sandwiches were served.

YANKEES CUFF RED SOX 5-0 AS PHILS WIN

By JOE REICHLER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Is this going to be another bridesmaid year for Boston's perennial left-at-the-alter Red Sox?

Vic Raschi's 5-0 handcuffing of the Sox slingers for the New York Yankees yesterday may have been just one of those things. On the other hand, it might have been a sign of things to come. It smacks too much of "the same old Red Sox" of the past four years.

Watching the Sox being throttled with six little singles made it almost impossible to visualize them as the same pulverizing team that ran off 11 straight grapefruit league victories.

The season's opener proved a total loss so far as Boston was concerned. Not only were the Red Sox horse-collared, but the city's National league representatives, the Braves, were goose-egged as Larry Jansen of the Giants shut them out, 4-0, with five little singles.

PHILS DOWN DODGERS

Philadelphia's defending Champion Phils downed Brooklyn's Dodgers, 5-2, at Ebbets Field. Robin Roberts, whose final-day triumph over the Brooks gave the Phils their first flag in 35 years last season, again thwarted the Dodgers.

Bob Lemon, king of the 1950 pitchers, threw a brilliant two-hitter at the Tigers to pitch the Cleveland Indians to a 2-1 triumph in Detroit.

Outfielder Al Zarilla blasted St. Louis Brown pitching for a home run, double and single to lead the White Sox to a 17-3 romp before 5,660 at St. Louis.

Murry Dickson pitched and batted the Pirates to a 5-4 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals in Pittsburgh. The little righthander walloped his first major league home run and contributed a single in another scoring rally.

CUBS BEAT REDS

The Chicago Cubs made merry at the expense of Ken Raffensberger, whipping the Cincinnati Reds, 8-3. Andy Pafko, veteran outfielder, chipped in with a home, triple and single.

Cold weather held the inaugural crowds to a disappointing 171,678 fans at the eight parks. Last year the eight openers drew 252,700 fans.

The biggest crowd of the day—44,860 Yankee Stadium fans—saw Jackie Jensen steal the show from Mickey Mantle, the publicized New York rookie flash. Jensen smashed a two-run homer and doubled in the sixth inning. Mantle singled in four times at bat.

A'S LOSE 6-1

A crowd of 43,470 watched a pitching duel between Lemon and Hal Newhouser in Detroit. Tied at 1-1 after eight innings, the Tribe won in the ninth when shortstop Johnny Lipon bobbled Jim Hegan's grounder and Larry Doby scored the winning run. Jerry Priddy got both hits off Lemon.

Dick Sisler, Del Ennis and Mike Goliat led the Phils' nine-hit attack at Brooklyn before 19,217 chilled fans. Sisler, whose three-run homer beat Brooklyn for the pennant last year, hit two singles and scored twice. Ennis batted in three runs with a homer and single. Goliat socked a four-bagger in the second inning to gain the honor of connecting with the first major league homer of the year. Carl Erskine, a surprise starter, was the loser.

The Washington Senators defeated the Philadelphia Athletics, 6-1, behind Con Marerro in the first night opener in American league history.

MOUNT DENIES REHIRING OF PETE CARUSO

Emmitsburg, Md. — April 18 (AP)—Pete Caruso is still the ex-baseball coach of Mt. St. Mary's college.

He was fired a days ago. Then on April 10 Caruso said he was informed the athletic council had met the night before and had reinstated him.

The Rev. E. S. Berry, secretary of the council, issued this formal statement:

"There has been no change in the council decision as announced April 7 in regards to Peter Caruso."

It was on April 7 that the athletic council announced it was dropping Caruso because of a "policy of disagreement" brought on partially by his scheduling a game with the professional Cumberland Spas "without sanction or knowledge of the college."

Caruso came to Mt. St. Mary's last year from St. Peter's college in Jersey City, N. J. The Mounts had one of their best seasons, winning the Mason-Dixon Conference championship, then got as far as the semi-finals of the Catholic Invitational tourney.

Several hours before Father Berry issued his statement, Caruso said, "I can't figure it out. I never had this trouble before."

I broke a three-year contract at St. Peter's to come here. I was to get a three-year contract here, but it wasn't until after I had already quit my job that I saw the last paragraph of my present contract. It says if the season was not satisfactory, the contract would terminate after one year.

I think 20 wins and 13 defeats for the season, plus the showing we made in the Mason-Dixon and the Catholic tournament, should be called a successful season."

MACK WATCHES FORMER TEAM LOSE OPENER

Philadelphia, April 18 (AP)—The most famous scorecard in baseball has been retired along with its owner.

It's like a hot dog without mustard, sooth without soda, Punch without Judy, Christmas without Santa Claus.

Of course you've guessed we mean none other than Connie Mack with our storied scorecard.

The 88-year-old Mack, wrapped in a heavy overcoat and thick muffler, sat in 40-degree chill last night watching his beloved Philadelphia Athletics lose their 1951 opener to the Washington Senators 6 to 1.

It was the first time in 51 years Connie himself was not managing the A's. The man whose name is synonymous with baseball huddled in a box three rows back of the team's dugout. On the field, one of Connie's prize protégés, Jimmy Dykes, did the master-minding.

You might think that deep down Connie would take it a bit hard, that being a mere fan could not hold a candle to being skipper. But he's honestly happy about it. He's a man with a big load off his shoulders, a man who can relax.

RECEIVES BUST

Before the game started, Mack was squared onto the field to receive a bronze bust of himself presented by the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin. Hat in hand, the cold wind blowing through his wisping hair, he posed for picture after picture.

Then he went back to his box. And here it was ascertained he had at last given up scoring the game.

Gone for good is the scorecard that waved into such baseball greats as Eddie Collins, Al Simmons, Ty Cobb, Bing Miller, Jimmy Foxx, Jack Barry and Frank (Home Run) Baker.

In truth, Connie had to borrow a card from a neighbor so that he would have one to wave for the camera shots.

Why has he decided not to use a scorecard? He simply grinned, shrugged, wagged his head. He's keeping his reasons to himself. But one can't help thinking that perhaps he was a little worried over so long a habit, that it would be so easy for him, in the game's excitement, to forget his new role and start winging men into action.

GRASSO MAKES GOOD

Connie kept up a running fire of comment. Other fans round about him got it straight from the boss of nine pennant winners and five World Champion clubs why so-and-so hits well and the other fellow doesn't.

Mickey Grasso, Washington catcher, came to bat in the second inning. "This boy is a good batter," Connie assured his circle. The words were scarcely spoken before Grasso smashed a three-run homer into the left field stand—enough to win the game. Connie grimaced as if to say "He's too good if you ask me," then settled back again, wreathed in good humor.

Despite the A's defeat, Connie felt fine.

So would any man who took home a plaque, signed by one million baseball fans the country over, inscribed: "You will live in our hearts forever."

Chart Opens for "Minstrel Echoes": On Saturday morning the chart will open at the Peoples Drug Store for "Minstrel Echoes," to be given in the Majestic Theatre the following Wednesday evening.

Men skilled in minstrelsy will be seen in the circle, which constitutes part of the performance. Brady Sefton, Bill Stanley, Carl Menchey, Richard Eisenhart, Fred Pfeffer, Murray Miller and Ernest Baker will be seen in "black-face" roles, That bee that creeps into the parlor of a flower for a taste of its honey, leaves behind its calling card of promised future life to the species of that flower.

INDOORS GOLFER

Get you back upon the fairway where the game of golf is played.
These pitch shots to the sofa, to the green must now be played.You have practiced through the winter driving golf balls to a net,
But the back tees they are using.
Now it's distance you must get.You are done with winter dreaming and with studying the books.
It's the swing that causes slices and the swing that causes hooks.You can hit a piece of canvas ten feet off with splendid force,
But it's quite a different matter when you have to play the course.You've been putting on a carpet where no careless chap has been.
Now you'll have to cope with heel prints and the sloping of the green.Indoor practice may be helpful, but you'll find it not enough,
For the canvas and the carpet have no bunkers and no rough.

SEX

Sex is the dominating power of the universe. Male and female did God create human beings, as well as the animals, the birds, and the flowers of the field. Masculine and feminine traits are to be witnessed by us on every side. These traits are manifest in the moods of human beings and in almost everything they create.In nature these sex elements are most pronounced. There are even days that seem masculine and those that seem feminine. The poets sense this fact and so give to the world that glory both masculine and feminine elements. I was once amused rare beauty of expression in lines by a gardener with whom I talked who referred to some plants as "he" and some as "she." We all do it in our thoughts. It is something inimitable.The board of directors met at 7

WASHINGTON IS BOMBARDIER'S DREAM WITH ITS PRIME TARGETS

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, April 18 (AP)—Washington is a bombardier's dream. An enemy who wanted to drop an atomic bomb couldn't pick a better time than tomorrow, MacArthur Day, with all the big government brass here.

But, except for MacArthur, tomorrow is like most any other weekday in the capital: all the key men in the government are bunched together in a really small area: president, vice president, cabinet, congress, army, navy, air force.

True, all work in separate offices and separate buildings but when the bombs start falling those buildings aren't far apart. In addition, hundreds of thousands of government workers are concentrated here.

70 Per Cent Might Arrive

Congress has been chewing over the idea that maybe something ought to be done to make Washington a less easy target or, rather, to spread out the government a bit so it wouldn't all be wiped out in one attack.

If you think the air force could keep enemy bombers away, just remember that the top air force people say:

No air-defense system, no matter how perfect nor how well developed, can be relied upon to stop completely a determined enemy attack. Top air force officials have estimated, as many as 70 per cent of any attacking planes would get through to drop their bombs.

So today the Senate was finally getting around to consideration of a bill that would disperse some government agencies.

What Dispersal Means

There's quite a difference between "disperse" and "decentralize."

Decentralize means transferring federal agencies, or parts of them, to places far removed from the capital because they're the kind that can do their work, in war or peace, far from here. For example, bureaus in the agriculture department, dealing with animals, could be moved to the midwest or somewhere else.

Disperse means moving essential government agencies—very essential to what's being done in Washington—from the heart of Washington to some place outside it but not more than 20 miles away. For example, it might be possible to disperse some parts of the treasury department.

Bill Is Offered

But neither the president nor Congress could very well be dispersed. If they were, Washington would hardly be the capital any more.

A subcommittee of the Senate's committee on public works finally came up with a bill that would start some of the dispersal. And this bill was laid in the lap of the Senate for consideration, starting today.

Briefly, if this bill became law this is what would happen: The government, on land it bought, would put up four big buildings within 20 miles of Washington, in nearby Virginia and Maryland.

Each of the buildings would be big enough for 5,000 workers. And highways would be built by-passing Washington and, by offshoots, leading into it.

To Cost $107,000,000

These highways would serve several purposes: general traffic which wanted to use the highways to bypass Washington could do so; there'd be faster and easier travel between Washington and the dispersed agencies; and in event of attack these highways could be used in evacuating some of the Washington population.

The cost of land, buildings, and highways would run about $107,000,000.

This would, of course, have nothing to do with decentralization of the government, since the less essential government agencies could be moved to far-away places where and when room was found for them.

the school might "take over" the entire recreational area." He said these opinions were voiced in the light of experience in the loss of the Kurtz playground at the present site of the high school, and asked whether the deed from the recreation association to the school board could contain a clause giving the recreation association the use of school facilities without seeking permission for each time its use was desired.

Assumed Old Debt

Dr. Keefauver said the Kurtz playground was "taken over" by the school board a number of years ago by request, and the school board assumed an $1,000 debt.

Other board members, commenting on Mr. Knox's suggested "free access" to school facilities should a building be erected, declared that they felt the school board is cooperating fully with the recreation association at the present time and would continue this cooperation.

"I don't know what free access might mean," Richard A. Brown, president of the board, said. "I feel that it would not mean that the school would be open all hours, day and night, but I believe that the school and recreational programs would complement each other to mutual advantage and that the recreation association would be fortunate in having the school there."

Estimate $5000 Cost

Mr. Brown reported that the Gettysburg Fire company had contributed $1,000 toward the erection of toilets at the recreation field, and the board expressed its gratitude to the firemen. However, estimates of the probable cost of the building ran as high as $5,000.

Mr. Teeter reported that borough council had agreed to extend a sewer line and that water probably could be extended for the toilets. The matter was referred to the planning committee to report at a special meeting of the board of directors of the Recreation association, to be held April 25.

Reports were given by Recreation Director Donald Joseph, and he was authorized to employ four playground supervisors for the summer program. Miss Virginia Decker and Miss Mary Martin will supervise children's activities at the High street school, which will be used as an auxiliary playspot for younger children from the east end of town this summer, and Miss Elizabeth Blocher and Luther Sachs, Jr. will be supervisors at the recreation park.

Mr. Joseph was also directed to remove the remaining playground equipment at the high school to the High street school playground.

Present at the meeting were Mr. Brown, who presided; Directors Glenn L. Bream, Mrs. Henrietta Blocher, Richard S. Codori, Mr. Teeter, Daniel J. Wolff, Mr. Knox, and George D. March, and Dr. Keefauver, Mr. Joseph and Mahlon P. Hartzell, secretary of the board.

Following three additional numbers by the seminary quartet a "Stop the Music" type program was presented. Richard Sell, East Berlin; Miriam Leer, York Springs; Bonnie Bryson, Gettysburg, and Terry Ecker, New Oxford, were called to the stage to identify the music. Each contestant won a lollipop. The music was sung by David Stanton and Harriet Carter of St. Paul's AME Zion church here; Ethel Herman of the New Oxford Methodist; Carolyn Sowers of the New Oxford Reformed and Fred Bales of the New Oxford Lutheran churches.

German Student Speaks

Robert Sanders and William Bucklew, both of Gettysburg, presented a minstrel entitled "Smudge Pots." Albrecht Burbach, a German exchange student, spoke briefly.

Following several barbershop numbers by the seminary quartet and additional numbers by the Little German Band, Perry Stauffer and Charles Sanders assisted by Nancy Lighter, all of Gettysburg, gave a puppet show.

A skit, "Don't Sell the Old Home-stand, Ma, Give the Thing Away," was presented by Lois Sheely and Robert Sowers of the New Oxford Reformed church and Fred Brandt of the East Berlin Lutheran church assisted by 12 others who played the part of children.

Game Period

Another number by the Little German Band preceded a game period with Dale Reinecker, of York Springs Lutheran church; Carolyn Sowers, New Oxford Reformed Church; Kenneth Ecker, New Oxford Methodist church; Anne Fortenbaugh, Gettysburg Christ Lutheran; Nancy Lighter and Susan Lighter, St. James Lutheran, and Gracie Williams, AME Zion, as leaders.

The program closed with the entire group singing, "Blest Be The Tie That Binds."

Harrisburg, April 18 (AP)—A House committee looked coldly today on proposals to permit issuance of special motor license plates to certain groups. Rep. Samuel B. Dennison (R-Jefferson), chairman of the House Motor Vehicles committee, said such a move would establish a "very bad" precedent.

His committee is now considering legislation which would authorize issuance of special license tags to "ham" radio operators, physicians and state officials.

Summer Program
Mr. Joseph said that this summer's recreation program will include all kinds of arts and crafts, weekly doll, pet, stuffed animal, crafts and other shows, and athletic events. A new playground will be opened at the High street school, he said, to provide a playspot for the younger children in the eastern part of town. Small children will not have to cross heavily traveled thoroughfares, he said.

"We are trying to do all that we can for the children, because they are the future citizens of Gettysburg," Mr. Joseph said.

He outlined plans for the new midget baseball league, which he said would be designated the "Eddie Plank Memorial Midget Baseball League," in honor of Gettysburg's baseball luminary who began his big league career many years ago. There will be four teams which will play at least two evenings a week at the recreation park. A "minor" league will be organized for the youngsters who are not quite good enough to make the "major" league teams.

The league will operate under a board of directors, and Exchangites were asked to help in supervision, coaching or other capacities. It will be operated the first year on a limited financial scale to determine

OBSERVER SAYS WAR EXPANSION MAY HELP REDS

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

General Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, yesterday came out in support of the thesis that enlargement of the Korean war would jeopardize world peace and so threaten American security.

The five star general took this stand in an address before the National Association of Radio and Television Broadcasters in Chicago. Admitting that this "could possibly result for a time in a military stalemate," he added:

Destroy Enemy

"As long as we are able to confine the battles to Korea and continue to destroy the Communist aggressors, we are making progress toward our international objective of preventing World War III. . . If at all possible, Korea should be settled on the present battle ground."

"If we here at home can only measure up to the achievements of patience and courage of the men in Korea) there is every reason to believe that the war in Korea can ultimately be concluded on honorable terms."

This appraisal by General Bradley fits the declaration by Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet, the new commander of U.N. ground forces in Korea, that his "confident and experienced army" can stop any offensive mounted by Chinese and North Korean Communists."

"The men in the front line foxholes," says General Van Fleet, "welcome a Communist offensive because that would give us our best opportunity to kill a maximum number of them."

Others Against It

Britain, France and our other Western Allies are dead against deliberately starting such expansion in the Far East—say by launching an attack against Red China.

Why? Well, one cogent reason is, as General Bradley points out, that this might precipitate World War III.

However, there is another highly important point to which this column has referred more than once. This is that a conflict with Communist China would give bolshevism a chance to whittle the Western powers down militarily and economically in preparation for a world war which might find Russia and some of her satellites virtually untouched by the Asiatic conflict.

On that basis we might be smart not to play into the hands of bolshevism by launching a "preventive" war against China or anybody else. As a matter of fact China is getting plenty of punishment through her aggression in Korea.

Harrisburg, April 18 (AP) — Sen. Joseph J. Yosko (D-Northport) last night asked the Senate to approve a plan to accelerate the training of nurses in Pennsylvania. Yosko presented a bill seeking a $200,000 appropriation to provide accelerated two-year training courses for nurses in state-aided hospitals in areas where a shortage of nurses exists.

Missionary's Wife Home From Turkey

Boston, April 18 (AP) — The wife of a Selinsgrove, Pa., missionary returned to the United States for her first visit since 1937 and promptly landed in Massachusetts General Hospital.

Mrs. Cyril H. Haas, a medical missionary who spent 11 years in Turkey, was taken by ambulance yesterday from the liner Excalibur where she suffered a hip injury at sea.

With her husband, Dr. Haas, a native Pennsylvanian, she has worked under the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions at Adana, Turkey, since 1910. She was born in Lake Preston, South Dakota. She and Dr. Haas served in Turkey as special representatives of the First Congregational church of Evanston, Ill.

NCCW DIOCESAN MEET IN JUNE

Plans were recently completed for the 26th annual convention of the National Council of Catholic Women of the Harrisburg Diocesan Council of Catholic Women, at a meeting of the program committee of the Harrisburg Council, in Bloomsburg. The meeting will be held Wednesday, June 27, in Bloomsburg. Members of the board will meet Tuesday evening, June 26, prior to the opening of the convention, the theme of which is to be "Work for Peace Through Prayer and Sacrifice." A pontifical mass will be held at St. Columba's church, Bloomsburg, with Bishop George L. Leech, Harrisburg, as the celebrant at the opening of the convention.

At the first session the group will be welcomed by the Very Reverend William J. Burke, rector of St. Columba's church, and by Mrs. Fred M. Valentino, president of the Northern Deamers. The response will be given by Mrs. Pauline W. Callaghan, president of the Harrisburg Diocesan council, also of Steelton, will preside.

A luncheon will be held in connection with the meeting to follow the opening session, at the Elks hall, with Mrs. Fred Simon, of Shamokin, presiding. An address entitled "Our Children Can Lead Us to God" will be given by Miss Catherine Zealburg, of Bloomsburg. The afternoon session will include a panel discussion on "Retreats." Mrs. Bernard Wart, of Harrisburg, will be the discussion moderator.

The banquet in the evening will be held in the ballroom of the Bloomsburg Moose home, and will be presided over by Miss Pauline W. Callaghan. Prayer will be offered by Rev. Anthony J. Mayan, spiritual moderator of the council. Addresses will be given by Bishop Leech and by Mrs. Gerald Bernick, president of the National Council of Catholic Women, Washington, D. C.

Delegates and other groups from parishes throughout the Harrisburg diocese are expected to attend the convention.

Hwachon dam. An allied force tried to push across the dam Wednesday. It was thrown back by heavy Communist fire.

Allied foot troops slugged ahead with little opposition east and north on the western tip of the huge Hwachon reservoir. Some Communist mortar fire was reported.

Tanks ranged east and northwest of Yonchon on the west central front without meeting Communist forces. The tanks destroyed 70 tons of Red ammunition southwest of Kumhwa.

Russian-made jets returned briefly Wednesday to the North Korean skies. Twenty-five MIG-15s darted across the Manchurian border and tangled with 16 American F-86 Sabre jets.

One MIG was damaged in the 15-minute dogfight that swirled at 30,000 feet. All allied planes returned to their bases.

Allied commanders said the grinding United Nations attack in Red Korea presumably has thrown the Chinese and Korean Communists completely off balance. Chinese war prisoners said the Reds' spring offensive was set for April 11. That was one week ago. The Reds still are committing their troops piecemeal in rear-guard delaying actions.

U. S. Fifth Air Force planes pounded Red troop positions and supply bases all day Wednesday.

U. S. Eighth Army headquarters has an estimated 1515 Communist troops were killed or wounded Tuesday in ground action alone.

Portugal's Head Of State Dies At 81

Lisbon, Portugal, April 18 (AP) — President Antonio Oscar De Fraco Carmona, Portugal's head of state since 1926, died today after a brief illness. He was 81.

He had suffered a sudden breakdown earlier this week and doctors said he was in a serious condition.

His son, Dr. Antonio Adelito Carmona, arrived at his bedside today from Madrid and his daughter, the duchess of Dusmet, came here from Rome.

A veteran military figure, Marshal Carmona became head of state in 1926 after the military coup of May 28. He was elected president in 1928 and since has been re-elected three times. He began serving his fourth seven-year term in 1949.

"I was just too tired to deliver that mail," inspectors quoted him.

SAYS INFLATION BEING CHECKED

Washington, April 18 (AP) — The labor-industry fight over new wage board powers boiled over today. But a top administration official claimed the stop-inflation drive is starting to pay off.

Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston said last night that the inflationary spiral is being checked at last. In fact, he said prices for consumers goods may take a tumble in the next few months because of abundant factory stocks.

John H. Dent, Democratic floor leader, disclosed he was preparing a parliamentary action to bring the controversial oleomargarine issue to a Senate vote. He said it would be ready by Monday.

Dent's action will be in the form of a demand to discharge the Senate committee from consideration of the oleo bill. But Republicans, in the majority, already have announced their opposition.

Meanwhile, Rep. Albert E. Madijan (D-Baltimore), chairman of the House Agriculture committee, said his group would continue working on oleo legislation without regard to the Senate's rejection. He said a subcommittee is working on House oleo bills and is expected to make a report "in a week or so."

Up to now the administration has been trying to put board of labor, industry and public members back into business.

Labor, which yanked its representatives from such a wage board and all other defense agencies in February, wants a new wage board empowered to handle all sorts of labor disputes, including wages and virtually every type of working condition. Industry wants the wage board confined to settling wage matters alone.

President Truman's 17-man mobilization advisory board came up with a plan for a new board late yesterday. The plan would have an 18-member board of public, labor and industry members settle all disputes certified by Mr. Truman, as well as all disputes labor and management agreed to have the board act upon.

The infant physicians said, may die if not given the transfusions. Her parents have refused on religious grounds to permit transfusions, despite pleadings of medical and legal authorities.

Darrell Labrenz, 25, and his wife, Rhoda, who described themselves as Jehovah's Witnesses, said they would be violating Biblical directives if they allowed their daughter, Cheryl Lynn, to receive blood.

The child is in Bethany hospital and Dr. William W. Wieand, who attended the birth April 11, said she is in "grave danger." The condition, R.H. factor, is caused by the parents having opposing factor blood types.

The infant's life can be saved, physicians said, by a complete flushing of her blood stream. "Unless there is a transfusion," Dr. Wieand said, "we must stand by and see the baby's life ebb away."

The state's attorney's office prepared a petition for presentation in family court to have a guardian appointed for Cheryl Lynn on a technical charge that the parents are neglecting her health.

Someone asked MacArthur a question.

"I'm not saying anything," MacArthur said, "until I get to Washington. What I have to say is for their ears."

"I'll bet you tell them plenty!"

The general retorted with a laugh: "You'll see."

"Peaches" Weds Her Fifth Husband

Philadelphia, April 18 (AP) — The nation's third largest city yesterday adopted its ninth charter in 267 years—the first to provide for self-government.

By a majority of more than 120,000 votes of nearly 490,000 cast, Philadelphians approved a "strong majority" government.

The decision for the proposed charter, according to unofficial figures, was 259,647 for and 139,439 against. Only three of nearly 1,400 divisions in 52 wards were unopposed. At the same time two other provisions, one reducing the size of the city council and the other abolishing an elected receiver of taxes, were passed.

The final count on the council change, which provides for a 17-body instead of the present one of 22 members, with seven of the 17 elected at large, was 246,397 to 140,766.

The voters accepted a charter section which sets up a commissioner of revenue, appointed by a director of finance with the approval of the mayor. Under the previous charter, adopted 31 years ago, a receiver of taxes was elected directly by the voters. The vote on this question was 239,179 to 141,417.

The new charter, framed by a special commission, goes into effect next January 7. The first step under the new law will be a primary election July 24, 1951. In November a mayor, controller, treasurer and a 17-man council will be elected.

It is believed the entire city government will be functioning fully under the charter by July, 1952.

Smuggle Morphine
In On "Missouri"

Buenos Aires, April 18 (AP)—President Juan D. Peron signed today a law ordering the government to take over the independent newspaper La Prensa.

The president's action ends the independent career of the 82-year old opposition paper, which, before it was closed by strikes of pro-government unions and federal court action, had been an consistent critic of Peron's regime.

The signature apparently dimmed one of the paper's last hopes—an appeal to the Argentine congress today that the property be returned to the owners. This demand, filed Monday by the paper's attorney, was based on the fact that the president at the time had not yet signed the bill passed by Congress last week ordering the paper's seizure.

FIVE-DAY FAIR BEING PLANNED FOR THIS FALL; 2 SCHOOL DAYS

Two school days, band concerts daily, and a revamped stage show are scheduled for the 1951 edition of the South Mountain Fair.

Arnold Orner, president of the fair association, said today that the annual event will be held five days this September, instead of four as previously.

The dates listed are September 4, 5, 6, 7 and 8, with the agricultural event scheduled to formally open at 4 p.m. on Tuesday, September 4.

Two School Days

Because of the large number of children in the county's schools, and because of the interest shown by the children, the fair association this year plans to have two school days, on Thursday, September 6, and Friday, September 7. Previously only one school day was held.

President Orner noted that the fair hopes by having two school days to give all of the children a greater opportunity to see the exhibits and activities at the fair, by permitting those who can attend both days to be there, and to give an opportunity to attend to those whose parents were unable to go with them when only one school day was held. Free tickets of admission given the young stars will be good for both days.

Present plans are to have various high school bands present concerts each afternoon or evening at the fair. In previous years the band hired to play for the stage show at the fair performed those duties and the concerts had to be confined to times other than the stage show, it was noted. This year an organ will provide the music for the stage entertainment and the bands giving the concerts will be local and able to perform at any time.

Listed for the stage entertainment are Bingo, a trained chimpanzee; George J. Keller's trained wild animals including lions, tigers, leopards, jaguars and pumas; Payne and Foster, who present music with dolls, musical bells, etc; Five Singing Pilates; a unicycle act, and the organist.

Provide More Space—A 24-inch

FARM CALENDAR

Grow Good Garden—If you want to grow fine vegetables, use a good supply of organic matter, as well as commercial fertilizer in your garden. Robert Fletcher, vegetable extension specialist of the Pennsylvania State college, says that manure is first choice, but you can use a compost of leaves, straw, grass clippings, or vegetable plant refuse.

Make Quality Hay—A mow hay is recommended by J. A. McCurdy, extension agricultural engineer of the Pennsylvania State college, for making high-quality hay. The time to install such equipment will be this spring when most of the last year's hay crop has been fed to livestock and the mow is practically empty.

Dig Big Holes—When transplanting woody plants, dig holes large enough to include the root systems rather than reducing the roots to fit smaller holes. A. O. Rasmussen, extension ornamental horticulturist of the Pennsylvania State college, explains that plants will take hold more quickly in a new location if all the roots are left.

Provide More Space—A 24-inch

feeder will take care of 40 to 60 chicks from hatching to two weeks of age. Penn State extension poultry specialists suggest that then the feeder space be doubled. When the chicks are 5 to 6 weeks old, put hen hoppers in the pens.

Prevent Mastitis—Proper ventilation without drafts in the barn is essential in keeping cows' udders healthy, says John Wheeler, Penn State extension dairy specialist. A barn door or window left open can seriously chill an udder, with mastitis resulting.

Resist Blight—Three potato varieties—Essex, 2 XJ-1, and Kennebec—are quite resistant to blight in demonstrations conducted last year by the Agricultural Extension Service of the Pennsylvania State college. He recommends Transparent, Jonathan, and Golden Delicious apples, and Kieffer and Oriental types of pears as more resistant than other varieties.

Select Varieties—If you want to grow tree fruits in the backyard, select varieties which have some resistance to disease, suggests Allen H. Bauer, extension plant pathologist of the Pennsylvania State college. He recommends Transparent, Jonathan, and Golden Delicious apples, and Kieffer and Oriental types of pears as more resistant than other varieties.

Get Ready for a NON-STOP Harvest

If your ALL-CROP Harvester needs a checkup and repairs, don't put it off any longer.

There'll be busy times between now and grain harvest. And your crop will be heading out before you realize it.

Our mechanics have been trained in ALL-CROP Harvester schools. Nothing is overlooked when they check your machine. And they know how to fix it at lowest cost to you. Especially this year, repair parts should be ordered as early as possible.

Now is the time to prepare for a non-stop harvest. A phone call will put your ALL-CROP on our schedule.
